Go on a 60-year
ride with Harley-Davidson's
Sportster Things
got a little weird in the American
motorcycle
industry after
World War II.
People hungered
for new
motorcycles,
buying just

about everything
manufacturers could build. But on rare occasions a manufacturer
produced a machine that nobody wanted.
Such was the case with the
Harley-Davidson
Model K. The Model K had most of the features

buyers wanted in a modern machine, like
hand-operated
clutches, foot-
operated shifters, and
cool-running
aluminum heads,
but it lacked
perhaps the most important technological upgrade: a modern overhead-valve valve-train design. The Model K retained the antiquated side-valve design because of arcane AMA racing rules written when Harley-Davidson and Indian competed head-to-head on American racetracks, but by 1952 Indian was on its last legs. This should have made the Model K a massive sales success. What nobody counted on was the British bike invasion. Thanks to their modern overhead-valve

engines, the lightweight British bikes humiliated the
side-valve Harleys on the track and on the street. Upgrades
to the Model K
didn't help; Harley finally relented and introduced a new overhead-valve middleweight for the 1957 model year. Dubbed the Sportster, it was everything the Model K was not. More importantly, it was faster than the British competition. Thus began the
