In this first general theory for the analysis of popular literary formulas, John G. Cawelti reveals the artistry that underlies the best in formulaic literature. Cawelti discusses such seemingly diverse works as Mario Puzo's The Godfather, Dorothy Sayers's The Nine Tailors, and Owen Wister's The Virginian in the light of his hypotheses about the cultural function of formula literature. He describes the most important artistic characteristics of popular formula stories and the differences between this literature and that commonly labeled "high" or "serious" literature. He also defines the archetypal patterns of adventure, mystery, romance, melodrama, and fantasy, and offers a tentative account of their basis in human psychology.

A study of the popular plot formulas, and chief practitioners, of the detective and crime story, western, and social melodrama, assessing their artistic and cultural significance

Genre fiction is finally given its due, with 3 to 5 essays for each genre style, filled with exercises and student samples. This fun loving T&W classic was designed to help teachers expand their writing curricula with popular fiction genres. A fascinating guide, Teaching and Writing Popular Fiction provides ways to help students write, using the literature they already know and love.

Excerpt: Ethan knew he didn't have much time. As Brody walked over to the window to watch them leave, Ethan took his chance. He raised his arms way above his head and forcefully threw them down while simultaneously squeezing his shoulder blades together. In one swift move, he had busted out of the zip tie. Brody heard it snap and turned his head right into Ethan's fist. He swung his knife, catching Ethan in the arm. Ethan kicked Brody's legs out from under him, rammed his knee into his back, and slammed his wrist to the ground, releasing the knife. It was actually too easy; this guy was pathetic. Ethan reached for the table and grabbed a zip tie. He held it in his teeth until he was ready to bind Brody's hands behind his back, and while he was at it, he tied his scrawny little ankles. Then he thought, the hell with it, and brought his ankles up to his wrists and hog tied him. "They're going to fuckin' kill you when they get back," Brody screamed, his face bright red, his veins bulging and his nostrils coated with blood. With urgency, Ethan flew into the kitchen and dialed 911, so they could transfer the call to the local police. He stretched the phone cord, so Brody couldn't hear. He told them it concerned the murder of Seth Baer. Even though it was an unrelated department than that of his father, they were already informed of the incident. Ethan told them he had the prime suspect, and they needed to hurry. Ethan checked his watch. Chelsea and Tyson had only been gone five minutes. Ethan's apartment wasn't that far away. The cops needed to step on it. He grabbed a paper towel to absorb the blood trickling down his arm and was about to check on Brody when he saw lights from a vehicle pulling up on the street. He hoped it wasn't Chelsea and Tyson already. He went toward the window, but it was too dark. He couldn't make out the vehicle before the headlights flicked out. He heard a car door slam followed by loud pounding on the front door. Ethan lowered his voice. "Does Chelsea have a roommate?" "Screw you, asshole!" Brody shouted, then spit bloody phlegm across the carpet.
