This publication is a major evaluation of the 1970s American cinema, including cult film directors such as Bogdanovich Altman and Peckinpah.

A definitive overview of film adaptations of the works of horror master Stephen King analyzes the thematic, narrative, and character links that are revealed among his films, exploring such popular films as Stand By Me, Misery, The Shining, The Green Mile, and The Shawshank Redemption, among others. Original. 15,000 first printing.

This is a revised edition from the original 2005 edition with minor changes and also additional archival photos. The intervening years have allowed time to add additional information to provide a better understanding of the small community of people of African ancestry who settled in the Hawaiian Islands.

Connects the development of the Hunter Valley with the architects living and practising in the region. It outlines the early settlement and growth of the valley in which the architectural profession gradually responded to the challenges and opportunities in some isolation, away from Sydney town.

This book focuses on the re-invigoration of Charlie Chaplin ' s Little Tramp persona in America from the point at which Chaplin reached the acme of his disfavor in the States, promoted by the media, through his departure from America forever in 1952, and ending with his death in Switzerland in 1977. By considering factions of America as diverse as 8mm film collectors, Beat poets and writers and readers of Chaplin biographies, this cultural study determines conclusively that Chaplin ' s Little Tramp never died, but in fact experienced a resurgence, which began slowly even before 1950 and was wholly in effect by 1965 and then confirmed by 1972, the year in which Chaplin returned to the United States for the final time, to receive accolades in both New York and Los Angeles, where he received an Oscar for a lifetime of achievement in film.

The photographer documents life in the small rural North Carolina community of Sodom Laurel, capturing images of agricultural life, family gatherings, storytelling, and music making that are fast disappearing in America. (Social Science)
