"William Stewart Trench, land agent and author, was appointed agent of the Lansdowne estate in Kerry after the Great Famine. He was vilified for shipping some 4,000 destitute persons from Kenmare to the United States and Canada. With a view to preventing further destitution he devised a set of iron 'rules of the estate,' regulating marriage and other intimate aspects of tenant life. His autocratic rule made him hated, but he and his son also conferred lasting benefits on the locality through afforestation, road construction, improvement of tenant housing and a program of urban renewal. The book presents a comprehensive and vivid picture of Kerry society in his day. It combines description of a land agent's responsibilities with a uniquely detailed image of tenant life, as well as profiles of three influential absentee proprietors --the third, fourth and fifth marquesses of Lansdowne."--Jacket.

You can't rewind the past. The only way to learn the secret . . . is to press play. Clay Jensen returns home from school to find a strange package with his name on it lying on his porch. Inside he discovers several cassette tapes recorded by Hannah Baker—his classmate and crush—who committed suicide two weeks earlier. Hannah's voice tells him that there are thirteen reasons why she decided to end her life. Clay is one of them. If he listens, he'll find out why. Clay spends the night crisscrossing his town with Hannah as his guide. He becomes a firsthand witness to Hannah's pain, and as he follows Hannah's recorded words throughout his town, what he discovers changes his life forever. Need to talk?
