The first major book on Japanese textile artist Itchiku Kubota, published to accompany a touring exhibition.

In October 1928 Virginia Woolf was asked to deliver speeches at Newnham and Girton Colleges on the subject of ‘Women and Fiction’; she spoke about her conviction that ‘a woman must have money and a room of her own if she is to write fiction’. The following year, the two speeches were published as A Room of One’s Own, and became one of the foremost feminist texts. Knitted into a polished argument are several threads of great importance – women and learning, writing and poverty – which helped to establish much of feminist thought on the importance of education and money for women’s independence. In the same breath, Woolf brushes aside critics and sends out a call for solidarity and independence – a call which sent ripples well into the next century. ‘Brilliant interweaving of personal experience, imaginative musing and political clarity’ — Kate Mosse, The Guardian ‘Probably the most influential piece of non-fictional writing by a woman in this century.’ — Hermione Lee, The Financial Times

When words speak, silence and worlds intersect, it has to be Listen Girl! A touching tale of a mother-daughter relationship, it is an evergreen classic that delves into the elusive depths of a unique friendship. Superbly translated by Shivanath, and metaphors conveyed almost in its original version, it is a must read for all.

Join Professor Kenneth W. Harl for The Ottoman Empire: 36 enlightening lectures that investigate the nature of Ottoman identity, the achievements and oddities of the sultan’s court, and stories of confrontation and cooperation with the West.

After her nightmarish recovery from a serious car accident, Faye gets horrible news from her doctor, and it hits her hard like a rock: she can’t bear children. In extreme shock, she breaks off her engagement, leaves her job and confines herself in her family home. One day, she meets her brother’s best friend , and her soul makes a first step to healing.

In this mystery in the New York Times bestselling Cat in the Stacks series, librarian Charlie Harris and his cat Diesel must clear the name of someone near and dear to their hearts—Charlie’s own daughter. Athena College’s new writer in residence is a famous native son, playwright Connor Lawton, known for his sharp writing—and sharper tongue. After an unpleasant encounter, librarian Charlie Harris heads home to a nice surprise: his daughter, Laura, is visiting and will be subbing for another professor this fall semester. It’s great news until he hears who got her the job: her old flame, Connor Lawton... Fearing competition for Connor’s affections, one of his admirers tries to drive Laura out of town. And then, before Connor finishes the play he is writing, he is murdered—and Laura is the prime suspect. Knowing she’s innocent, Charlie and his faithful sidekick, Diesel, follow Connor’s cluttered trail of angry lovers, bitter enemies, and intriguing library research to find the true killer before his daughter is forever cataloged under “M”—for murderer.

Aristocratic investigator Sebastian St. Cyr must find the true culprit and defend his former lover, Kat Boleyn, when her husband is accused of the murder of a notorious diamond merchant.

There are over 2000 registered historic buildings in Shanghai, with hundreds more waiting to be added. Most are pre-War structures and are either Western buildings, or Chinese-style buildings with a distinct Western influence. These include villas, offices, apartment buildings and shikumen (a house of both wood and brick). Structures were selected for this book because of the interesting stories behind them or because they were related to a topical news event.
