Two men exiled to an untamed land must capture love. Ever since Cambridge-bound Colin Lancaster spied on stable master Patrick Callahan mastering another man, he's longed for Patrick to do the same to him. When Patrick is caught with his pants down and threatened with death for his crime, Colin speaks up in his defense and confesses his own sinful nature. They're soon banished to the faraway prison colony of Australia. Patrick never asked for Colin's help, and now he's stuck with the pampered fool. While it's true that being transported to Australia is a far cry from the luxury Colin is accustomed to, he's determined to make the best of it and prove himself. Patrick learned long ago that love is a fairy tale, but he's inexorably drawn to sweet, optimistic Colin despite himself. From the miserable depths of a prison ship to the vast, untamed Australian outback, Colin and Patrick must rely on each other. Danger lurks everywhere, and when they unexpectedly get the chance to escape to a new life as cowboys, they'll need each other more than ever. This historical gay romance from Keira Andrews features an age difference, an eager virgin, hurt/comfort, and of course a happy ending.

When confronted with death, would you have the courage to leave the only home you've ever known? The Delta Space Station isn't just a rundown spacecraft skirting the edge of Earth's atmosphere - it's Eta Shepard's home. It's the only place she's ever known. It's her whole world. And she's desperate to escape it. Today, on her eighteenth birthday, Eta will begin her day on the Delta the same way she begins every day, working to keep the aging spacecraft from falling out of orbit. But by the day's end, something will happen that will turn Eta's world upside down and forever change her future... and the future of her space station. Alexandros (Ale) Bakas is a mid-level engineer at NASA, working to re-establish a manned space program after a devastating world war left the Earth and its resident human population in tatters. When a rogue distress signal featuring a strange call sign is picked up by a newly launched set of communication satellites, Ale is put up to the task of finding its origin. Eta and Ale's worlds are about to collide in a way neither of them saw coming. And even though they're separated by hundreds of kilometers and all of Earth's atmosphere, their bond grows to the point of unbreakable - which is a good thing because they'll need that incredible bond to save Eta's life before the Delta finally falls.

For some, the day you die is only the beginning. After Piper dies, she gets two choices: enter her own personal hell, or go back to Earth and become the voice of conscience inside a boy's head. Can she save Sloan from meeting the same fate? A tale of hope that will warm your heart.

This illustrated version of the traditional song expands and describes more vehicles, different locations, and their unique sounds, from puffer-billies to racecars and rockets.

The sunless city of Station was supposed to be a nocturnal utopia. What Marlin Hadder found, however, was a city filled with nightmares on the edge of civil war. Now, he and the other residents must fight to keep their second chances at life.

NATIONAL BESTSELLER • An audacious, darkly glittering novel set in the eerie days of civilization's collapse—the spellbinding story of a Hollywood star, his would-be savior, and a nomadic group of actors roaming the scattered outposts of the Great Lakes region, risking everything for art and humanity. Soon to be a Max Original Limited Series on HBO Max. A National Book Award Finalist • A PEN/Faulkner Award Finalist Kirsten Raymonde will never forget the night Arthur Leander, the famous Hollywood actor, had a heart attack on stage during a production of King Lear. That was the night when a devastating flu pandemic arrived in the city, and within weeks, civilization as we know it came to an end. Twenty years later, Kirsten moves between the settlements of the altered world with a small troupe of actors and musicians. They call themselves The Traveling Symphony, and they have dedicated themselves to keeping the remnants of art and humanity alive. But when they arrive in St. Deborah by the Water, they encounter a violent prophet who will threaten the tiny band's existence. And as the story takes off, moving back and forth in time, and vividly depicting life before and after the pandemic, the strange twist of fate that connects them all will be revealed. Look for Emily St. John Mandel's new novel, Sea of Tranquility, coming in April 2022!

In this version of a familiar song, baby animals ride to the children's zoo on the zoo train.

Everybody at the station! It's time for winter hibernation! The sweet rhyming text of this book will calm even the most rambunctious kids and have them dreaming about what it's like to hibernate. Young readers will be soothed and delighted as this story introduces them to different types of hibernating animals. The creatures on the train are preparing to snuggle into sleep, although with a passenger list that includes chipmunks, bears, snakes, hedgehogs, groundhogs, frogs, turtles, mice, bats, and more, there's a lot of noise! Will the hibernating critters ever get to sleep? Take a trip to Hibernation Station to find out!

'Dying to Return' is the 3rd book in the YA/NA Fantasy, The Station Series. Piper Willow's adventure in the afterlife continues as she struggles to discover who she is and what is expected of her. Faced with decisions that could change everything, she must weigh her desire to be with the ones she has come to love, or satisfy her curiosity and find out what lies beyond her world with someone new. What Piper experiences and the choices she makes could not only alter the delicate inner workings of the Station but the delicate balance that Piper has managed to maintain inside herself. In the end, will it all be worth it?

Beth and her cousin Patrick travel in Mr. Whittaker's invention, the Imagination station, to 1000 A.D. Greenland, where they meet Erik the Red and Leif Eriksson and witness the spread of Christianity in that country.
