HOT. HOTTER. EXPLOSIVE! Not all sex positions are equal. Some are great for increasing arousal but not a good way to finish. Others are difficult to perform but offer a sensation like nothing else. Classics like missionary, doggy and cowgirl are great for achieving an orgasm but can become boring if that's all you do night after night. How can you experience the best elements of each and every sex position? Don't do just one — do a whole sequence! This book's revolutionary approach to sex guides you position-by-position from arousal to building excitement to orgasmic finish like nothing you have ever experienced before. Sex Position Sequences shows how to master 60 different positions and transition from one position to the next so the mood only gets hotter and hotter right up to the heart-pounding climax.

Featuring more than 400 full-color digital intraoperative photographs, this atlas is a comprehensive “how-to” guide to heart, lung, liver, kidney, and pancreas transplantation. It presents photographs and succinct descriptions of every step of each operation—including patient positioning, dissection and exposure, retraction, anatomic details, anastomoses, completion, and drain placement. Photographs have been taken from multiple angles, including directly overhead wherever possible. Anatomic and technical variations are illustrated by drawings. Coverage includes procurement and transplantation of cadaver organs, operations to obtain organs from living donors, and transplantation of living donor organs. The liver and kidney sections include pediatric transplantation.

After the collapse of the Soviet Union liberated the republics of Central Asia, many believed that, with their rich geographies and histories, these nations would pursue a logical set of social, political, and economic goals. Yet the foreign policy choices of these countries has been confusing, if not wholly problematic, leading international scholars to turn to the thought of Sir Halford Mackinder (1861–1947), a British geographer widely regarded as the father of geopolitics. This volume unites historical geographers and political scientists in an exploration of the remarkable renaissance of Mackinder's theories. It charts the intellectual's own engagement with the region, in both his writings and his visits as a British envoy in the aftermath of World War I. The book outlines and evaluates the use of Mackinder's ideas by Central Asian, Russian, and American scholars and their insight into the region's international relations. It traces the path his ideas took as they have made their way across Europe and Central Asia, analyzing the dynamics of their reworking as scholars encountered them "in transit." The volume therefore makes an important contribution not only to the theorization of the international relations of Central Asia but also to an understanding of ideas' historical geography as they move and change across place and time.
